FEE SCHEDULE
& COSTS AND CHARGES

FEE SCHEDULE

Important Information

The following fees apply to the respective services provided by Banco Bradesco Europa S.A. (the "Bank" or "BBE"), as described herein. Services not specified on this table will be managed on a case-by-case basis.

The provision of services by the Bank is subject to the payment of costs, fees, commissions, charges, taxes, among others (the "Costs").

The exact amount of all charged Costs will be communicated to you on an annual basis or upon request.

All costs incurred by the Bank to provide services not included in this document will be charged to the customer's account after proper disclosure to the account holder(s) on a durable medium (e.g. recorded telephone, email etc.).

The Costs will be debited in United States Dollars (USD) from the customer's account. Costs incurred in a currency other than USD will be converted into USD at the Bank's prevailing buying rate, without any additional costs.

This document can be amended from time to time and an updated copy of this schedule will always be available at the Bank upon the customer's request.

The document contains a simulation based on examples of portfolios that aims to illustrate the effect of the overall incurred Costs on your return on investment.

Products and services listed in this document may be subject to legal restrictions and, thus, may not be available as described.

Please carefully read the document and do not hesitate to contact your Relationship Manager for any further information.

The Bank's General Business Conditions apply.

8. Non-monetary benefits received and paid

The Bank may receive from or pay to third parties non-monetary benefits under the following conditions

- The benefit aims to improve the quality of the service in question for the Client.
- The benefit does not affect the Bank's obligation to act honestly, fairly and professionally in the best interests of the client.

Minor non-monetary benefits:

- Information or documents relating to a financial instrument or an investment service which are generic or personalised depending on the particular client's situation;
- Written documents from third parties; ordered and paid for by a company to promote a new issue that the latter is launching or intends to launch, or from third parties contractually engaged or paid by the issuer to produce such documents on a regular basis, provided that this relationship is clearly explained in the documents and that these are simultaneously available to all investment firms wishing to have them or the general public;
- Participation in conferences, seminars and other information events on the advantages and characteristics of a given financial instrument or financial service;
- Low and reasonable reception costs, such as those for food and drink at meetings or conferences, seminars or information events;
- Other minor non-monetary benefits that the legislation deems may improve the quality of the service provided to a client and, given the overall level of benefits provided, are of such size and nature as to be unlikely to prevent the investment firm complying with its obligation to act in the best interests of the client.
